Fiercely Tramping Over Dead Comrades, Germans Break Through Russian Cordon

Girls' Wages Not Related To Her Ruin

But Automobiles, Dance Halls, Lack of Public Amusement and Recreation Facilities, Lack of Parental Control Intoxicating Liquors Are Enumerated In Exhaustive Report

FILED WITH WISCONSIN'S SECRETARY OF STATE TODAY

By Legislative Committee After Fifteen Months' Study and Investigation of the Vice Problem—The Committee Also Makes Recommendations of Sweeping Reforms Along General and Specific Lines Tending to Make Law Enforcement More Efficient for the Prevention of Immorality and Attendant Crime.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Madison, Wis., Dec. 5.—Fifteen months study and investigation of the vice problem in Wisconsin by the legislative anti-vice committee resulted in radical proposals for law enforcement and better social conditions, summarized in an exhaustive report which was filed with the secretary of state today. The greatest cause of commercialized vice, the report says, is the use of intoxicating liquors. Contributory causes are public dance halls, road houses, poorly lighted parks and public places, lack of responsibility by parents, non-enforcement of laws by public officials, lack of public amusement and recreation facilities, and automobiles.

The committee found that the wage question had no material relation to a girl's downfall. The committee recommends among other things: "That a moral court be established in cities of the first class with exclusive jurisdiction over all cases involving moral offenses. "That a law similar to the Mann act, applicable between cities, villages and towns of the state be enacted. "That a permanent state police department be established in this state with power to investigate immoral practices and that local communities organize private associations to assist officers in the enforcement of laws. "That the sale of liquor be prohibited within or in connection with dance halls. That a liquor license may be automatically revoked upon a plea of guilty, or conviction. "That all hotels, rooming and lodging houses be required to secure licenses; that they keep permanent registers of the names of all guests, with penalties for using fictitious names. "That the publicity of ownership be established by requiring the name of owners on the front of all hotels and rooming houses. "That the age of consent be raised from 14 years in the case of any female, and 18 years in the case of a female of a previous chaste character, to 18 and 21 years respectively. "That an industrial home for women be established, to be equipped with hospital facilities for treatment of diseases, women of immoral practices to be committed thereto for treatment and training.

"That in cities of the first class three special classes for sub-normal children be established in the public schools and that where necessary the state furnish free textbooks, meals and clothing to make compulsory education effective.

"That sociable neighborhood centers be developed in connection with the school system.

"That municipalities provide supervised amusements, particularly concerts, moving picture shows, etc.

"That employers of domestic servants be required to furnish them with a suitable room in which to receive company. That the number of hours of labor for domestic servants be fixed by law.

"That the rights of the laboring class be protected.

"Adequate insurance against poverty.

"The man's part in the social evil," says the committee, "is despicable and mean enough to merit the harshest terms of reproach and disgust. The exploiter of the body and soul of women for money gain is worthy to be the lowest outcast in society, rather than the weaker, ignorant or unfortunate person exploited.

"The penalties for such exploitations must be made most severe, and must come with absolute certainty upon conviction. The fine system which is unjust and worthless for both men and women should be abolished; male offenders should be punished for contempt of court when they follow the common custom of giving a fictitious name before the court, and should be given a time sentence to a penal institution, not escapable by payment of fines, thus sharing their guilt with the state."

The report gives the number of immoral places existing in the larger cities of the state, which have met with little or no official interference.

Eyewitness Describes With Detail, the Operations For Three Days From Nov. 26 to 29

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

London, Dec. 5.—The Press-bureau today issued a report from an eyewitness at the front covering military operations during the three days from November 26 to November 29, inclusive. This report is summarized as follows:

"General activity is recorded along the English front with the Germans pressing the attack in one quarter against the Indian troops, who have been extending their trenches in an endeavor to get in close quarters with the enemy. There has been some shelling of the rear of our front line south of the Lys. But this form of annoyance diminishes daily along the whole front. Sniping, however, is carried on almost incessantly. There seems to be little doubt that the Germans are employing civilians, either willingly or unwillingly to dig trenches; some civilians, have been seen and shot while engaged in this work.

"While it is necessary to accept the evidence of all prisoners with caution, there is a change in the views expressed by some officers captured recently which appears to be genuine. They admit the failure of the German strategy and profess to take a gloomy view of the future. At the same time it must be confessed as yet there is no sign that the view is generally held by the enemy. Nor has there been any definite indication of a lack of morale among the German troops.

"The highways of northern France are crowded with men responding to the various mobilization orders issued by the French government. Thousands of such troops were encountered in the course of a short automobile trip. A considerable proportion of these new drafts are composed of middle-aged men of good physique, and likely young men from the countryside. The change within the last few days of what may be termed the atmosphere of the battlefield, has been marked. The noise of cannonading has now decreased to such an extent, that for hours at a time nothing is heard but the infrequent boom of one of the heavy guns of the allies, the occasional rattle of machine guns, and the intermittent fire of snipers on either side. So far as the use of explosives is concerned the greatest activity is found in local attacks with hand grenades and short range howitzers. The enemy has practically ceased his efforts to break through the line by assault and he is now devoting his energies to the same type of siege operations which have been familiar to the allies since the beginning of the battle of the Aisne.

"Subterranean life is the general rule in the neighborhood of the firing line. Even those men not actually engaged in fighting live in underground quarters. Some of these quarters, called funk holes, are quite elaborate and comfortable and contain many conveniences not found in the trenches on the firing line.

"They communicate with the firing line by zig-zag approach trenches which make enfilading impossible. Attacks are made on the firing line by blinded saps, which are constructed by a special earth borer. When this secret tunnel reaches the enemy's trench an assault is delivered amid a shower of hand grenades. The stormers endeavor to burst their way through the opening and then try to work along the trench. Machine guns are quickly brought up to repel a counter attack. Most of this fighting takes place at such close range that the guns on either side cannot be fired at the enemy's infantry without great risk of hitting their own men. Bombs have come to take the place of artillery and they are being used in enormous quantities. The short range howitzers are of three types, and those used by the Germans have come to be termed the "Jack Johnson" of close attack. The smaller bombs and grenades thrown by hand although local in action, are very unpleasant particularly in the enclosed space of a trench. These grenades are thrown continually to the side and every trench assault is first preceded and then accompanied by showers of these murderous missiles. This kind of fighting is very deadly and owing to the difficulty of observation it is at times somewhat blind. This difficulty has in a measure been decreased, however, by the use of the hypersonic, an instrument which works very much like the periscope on a submarine. It is used to observe to look out over the top of a parapet without raising the head above the protection of the trench.

ELECTION RESULTS ON AMENDMENTS OFFICIALLY GIVEN.

Columbus, Dec. 5.—Governor Cox today issued the official proclamation declaring the home rule amendment adopted and in effect. The proclamation also gives official notice that the proposed constitutional amendments, providing for state-wide prohibition, women's suffrage and limitation of the tax rate and classification of property for taxation were defeated.

VAST SUMS ARE DRAWN ILLEGALLY

By Members of the Indiana Legislature During The Session of 1913

PENAL LEGISLATION AGAINST LOBBYING IS URGED.

OVER $100,000 TAKEN

For Which No Warrant In Law Existed—Investigating Committee Records That the Majority of the Members Were Honest and Above Suspicion.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 5.—Very large sums of money were unlawfully drawn out of the treasury of Indiana during the session of the 1913 legislature, according to the report made late last night by the Marion county grand jury which indicted Lieutenant Governor Wotherspoon, O'Neill, Brown, Clark, Cook, and eleven others connected with the legislature in 1913 for illegal drawing of money from the state treasury.

The total amount drawn was $100,000.

Grandma sez: "It must be old santy Bollen who is little tot's BLAME HIM FOR THEIR CHITS BE CHRISTMAS."

bers of the legislature for their per diem and mileage was $60,903.60. The total money drawn from the treasury as expenses of the legislature was $160,000 plus making $100,000 of expense outside the pay of members of both bodies for their services.

"It is due to many members of the general assembly and perhaps to a considerable majority of them, to state that they had no knowledge of the vast sums of money that were being paid out to so-called employees.

"The evidence in this investigation also discloses a situation that calls aloud for penal legislation upon the subject of what is called 'lobbying' about the legislature. It shows that men of great political influence on account of their position in some instances, and their relation to party organization, do not hesitate to demand and receive large sums of money, running into thousands of dollars, to influence and control the legislation of the state. Men of different political parties under so-called employment from the same employer demand and receive large sums of money for their efforts to control or influence legislation upon public bills. Such conditions are inimical to the very foundation of public form of government and ought to be prevented by severe legislation so far as legislation can effect it."

ADDRESS GIVEN FOR SHIPMENTS TO THE RED CROSS

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Washington, Dec. 5.—Confusion resulting from a misunderstanding in some quarters as to which Red Cross to address, contributions of clothing and hospital garments intended for the distressed people in Europe should be sent, led to an official announcement today that all gifts should be forwarded freight prepaid to "American Red Cross, 1834 terminal, 20th street and Second avenue, South Brooklyn, N. Y."

It also announced that the Red Cross would be glad to accept donations for any of the warring nations, designated and forward the same when delivered to the address named, but that it could not guarantee to deliver to any particular city in Europe.

COMMITTEE FINDS BIG DEMAND FOR AMERICAN COTTON

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Washington, Dec. 5.—Representatives of the state treasury and commerce committees continued today the work of examining reports of the various commissions to the war. The committee had before it a report from the American cotton growers' association, which stated that the demand for American cotton in Europe was enormous. The committee is working out plans for the shipment of American cotton to France and Austria where it is officially announced that there is tremendous demand for the product at prices ranging from 11 to 15 cents.

Battle of Lodz The Bloodiest Of Entire War

German Bravery and Desperate Charges Have Never Been Surpassed In All History, as They Fought Their Way Through the Russian Lines Trampling Over Bodies of Their Dead Comrades

RUSSIA MAY HAVE GAINED PRESENT TACTICAL VICTORY

But There Has Been No Official Confirmation of a Decisive Defeat of the Germans Since the Brilliant Operation of General Mackenzin By Which He Saved His Army From Overwhelming Defeat—Advance of Austrians Halted By Attacks of Hostile Forces, Believed to Be Russians Who Have Gone to Aid Retreating Serbs.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

London, Dec. 5.—While reports of the battle of Lodz have ended in a Russian victory, any official information confirming this is lacking and it is according to British observers that conditions in the north of Poland are today virtually the same as they were one week ago, after the German army had been saved from overwhelming defeat by the brilliant operation of General Mackenzin.

Details of the Lodz fighting are beginning to filter through and they easily prove it to have been the most bloody struggle of the entire war. The Germans are described as fighting their way through the Russian lines over the heaped-up bodies of their comrades. Berlin claims heavy captures of prisoners in this struggle, while from Kiev comes the announcement that the fortress there is crowded with German prisoners. Incidentally Kiev reports that since the beginning of the war 130,000 soldiers and 2,500 officers have passed through Kiev as prisoners of war. The allies have ceased claiming a tremendous victory in northern Poland, but they do assert that the operations there have been a strategic defeat for Germany and a tactical victory for Russia.

The Russians would appear not yet to have been diverted from their attacks in Galicia and the invasion of Hungary, but the fortresses of Przemyśl and Cracow still are intact, and are likely to put up a stronger defense against the Russians than the Belgian forts did against the Germans. Unless a decisive defeat can be inflicted on the Austrian army at Czenstochowa, it is argued in London, it is not probable that the Russian army of the south will be in a position to begin any serious invasion of Silesia until Cracow has been reduced.

An eye-witness with the British forces in France reports that both sides in West Flanders are engaged in siege operations, and that the Germans have almost entirely abandoned their infantry assaults in force.

A novel kind of warfare, recalling the hand-to-hand combats of a century ago, but with entrenching and engineering features undreamed of before the days of the present powerful explosives, is a feature of the fighting along the western battle front.

An official report from Vienna admits that the advance of the Austrians has been prevented by violent attacks from strong hostile forces covering the Serbian retreat. No hint is given as to the identity of these forces, but the opinion is expressed in London that Russian aid has reached the sorely pressed Serbs. Berlin reports that such help will be no longer possible for the reason that the blowing up of the great tunnel near Tekija has blocked communication with Rumania and made impossible the passage of Russian transports along the Danube. Aviators of the allies, according to a Berlin dispatch, have resumed operations by dropping bombs in the neighborhood of Freiburg and Breisgau.

MAINE MEMORIAL NEARLY FINISHED FOR UNVEILING

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Washington, Dec. 5.—Only finishing touches were necessary today to complete the Maine Memorial in Arlington National cemetery to those who perished when the battleship Maine was blown up in Havana harbor in February, 1898. After years of work the memorial is practically ready for formal dedication on February 15 next, the seventeenth anniversary of the destruction of the Maine. The memorial was provided for by an act of congress.

The most striking feature of the memorial is the main mast of the Maine itself as it stood on the ship. The memorial will be dedicated with appropriate ceremonies. The tentative program includes addresses by President Wilson, Secretary Daniels and Rear Admiral C. D. Sigsbee, U. S. N. retired, who commanded the ill-fated ship, as well as a military and naval demonstration.

Five Robbers Injure Women In Cleveland

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Cleveland, Dec. 5.—Five masked automobile bandits early today forced an entrance to the home of Michael Chegin, near Mrs. Helen Chegin insensible with the butts of their revolvers, bound Mrs. Chegin to remain in bed, threatened to kill Helen and Agnes Chegin, 16 and 12, respectively, ransacked the place and fled with $30 taken from a bureau drawer. Just before the robbers left the house Mrs. Anna Wisso, 76, mother of Mrs. Chegin, awakened by the commotion and screams of her daughter, ran from her bedroom in the hall and was choked by the robbers.

Fearful Loss as Germans Cut Through the Russians; Most Pitiless Fight of War

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Petrograd, Dec. 5.—The most tragic movement of the fighting occurred between Tuszyn and Berezyn, southeast of Lodz. Russian forces which had penetrated to Tuszyn it appears, were surrounded and obliged to fight their way to Berezyn to unite with the main body. The Russians escaped counter attack after counter attack to prevent the junction but the Germans cut a passage at the point of the bayonet, for a distance of 15 miles. This battle is called the bloodiest and most pitiless fight of the war. Ninety per cent of the German officers were put out of action and many regiments had less than one hundred men left. The fighting lasted 26 hours. The Germans fell in rows but their comrades pushed forward over the bodies and hurled themselves against the Russians.

DEMOCRAT

WILL PROBABLY BE APPOINTED TO SUCCEED LATE JUDGE FOSTER WILKIN.

It Will Be Mostly an Honor, As the Unexpired Term Lasts Only to January 1.

ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM

Columbus, Dec. 5.—Although no official action will be taken until next week state officials today asserted that Governor Cox would appoint a Democrat to the supreme court justiceship made vacant by the death of Judge J. Foster Wilkin, who died suddenly yesterday at his home in New Philadelphia.

The appointment would be more or less a honorary one as the term of office of Judge Wilkin ends January 1, when the Republican judges elected at the November elections take office.

The impression prevails at the statehouse that either E. H. Moore of Youngstown, or Judge Phil M. Crow of Kenton, will be the most likely ones to be considered. Judge Crow was a candidate for supreme court justice and was defeated in the November election. Mr. Moore has already refused one appointment to a judgeship at the hands of the governor, he having been offered the common pleas judgeship in Mahoning county made vacant by the elevation of Judge Barnum to the court of appeals of that district.

Governor Cox is known to have a high regard for Mr. Moore, who was insurance commissioner under Governor Harmon and also manager of the Harmon presidential campaign.

JUDGE WILKIN WILL BE BURIED MONDAY

ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM

Columbus, Dec. 5.—Funeral services for Judge J. Foster Wilkin of the supreme court, who died suddenly yesterday at his home in New Philadelphia, after a two weeks' illness, will be held at 2 o'clock, Monday afternoon at the first Presbyterian church, New Philadelphia, of which he had been a deacon for many years.

Governor Cox, State Auditor Donahue, who was a fellow townsman of Judge Wilkin; Chief Justice Nichols, Associate Judges Shauck, Donahue, Johnson, Wanamaker and Newman, clerk of the supreme court; Frank McKean, and other state officials planned to attend the funeral. Service will be conducted by Rev. Dr. Howard N. Campbell.

An Iron Coat.

Plating iron with iron or steel with iron is a queer new scheme for delaying rusting. Chemically pure iron is nearly rustproof; so the plating idea is to cover iron or steel with iron that is as chemically pure as possible. Plating in much the same way that brass is plated with gold or nickel gives a coat that is very close to pure iron. A coat of zinc over the coat of iron also helps.

Rust is the bitterest and most persistent enemy of this age of steel, with its bridges and wires and skyscrapers and machines. The ancient Hindus had a secret method of making rustproof iron, and much iron is now manufactured for special uses at comparatively high cost which is reasonably free from impurities and so less likely to give way to rust, but the inventor of completely rustproof, cheap iron has a vast fortune awaiting him. —Saturday Evening Post.

Long Sentences.

Ruskin, it is said, has written more sentences of inordinate length than any other classic writer of modern English prose. Frederic Harrison some years ago counted the words in a number of typical sentences, finding that in the earlier books it was no uncommon thing for Ruskin to run beyond the page before permitting himself and his readers the relief of a full stop, but in every case the sense is as clear as day.

Wordsworth's poem on the "Character of Happy Warrior" is a notable example of sustained connections. Apart from the opening and closing couplets the poem consists of two very long compound sentences almost entirely comprised of adjectival clauses. The longer of the two sentences contains fifty-seven deasyllabic lines. This is probably a record in English verse. —Dundee Advertiser.

Luxury and a Newspaper.

La Prensa of Buenos Aires is probably the most sumptuously housed journal in the world. Apart from a number of spacious and luxuriously furnished rooms for the accommodation of the staff the Prensa offices comprise a well equipped library open to the general public and a suit of reception rooms where dances are periodically given. The journal also retains the exclusive services of a highly efficient doctor who is at the disposal of every subscriber and whose prescriptions are made up free of charge on the premises. On the roof of the office is an ear piercing steam whistle which sounds whenever any special item of news is about to be exhibited in the windows.

The Family History.

A new arrival in a certain town has put up the following sign on his lawn: My name is Piffleton Wombat. This is my first wife. We get along together pretty well. My income is $400 per year. My wife makes her own clothes. She has never left me. The piano is nearly paid for. Some of the neighbors think this man is a plain nut, but others claim that he's a public benefactor, considering all the trouble he has saved the local gossip. —Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Canadian surgeon catch for 1913 was 1,014,500 pounds.

Old Time English Recruiting.

Recruiting in the great war which ended in the fall of Napoleon was a vastly different matter from that which prevails today. Take the militia act of 1803, for instance. In each subdivision of a county a list was made of all men between the ages of eighteen and forty-five, classified into (a) those under thirty and without children, (b) over that age, (c) men with no children under fourteen, (d) men with only one child under fourteen and (e) all others. If the men required equalled the number in the first or second or any set of consecutive classes they were taken. If not, all the names were put in a bag and drawn until the requisite number was obtained. Any balloted man could purchase exemption for five years on paying a fine of $50, raised to $75 in 1805, the money being paid for a substitute. The men paying fines were exempted from the second ballot, and the money was devoted to enabling the men in the second ballot to obtain substitutes. On this vicious principle the only man really obliged to serve was the poor man drawn in the first ballot. —Dundee Advertiser.

A Curious Worm.

There is a flat worm about half an inch long called Planaria velata which reproduces itself in a most extraordinary manner. According to an article in the Biological Bulletin, when it grows old it loses its appetite, its colors fade and its movements become slow. It drops a tiny fragment of its tail, then another, still another and so on until it has left about half of its body in scattered pieces. Each detached piece curls up, secretes a mucus that soon dries and forms a hard shell. In this condition the fragments remain throughout the summer, fall and winter. In the spring the shells burst and liberate many minute worms, which eat voraciously and soon grow to adult size. The fore part of the worm, after it has shed all these bits, either dies or encysts itself in its turn.

Japan's Isles of Pines.

Matsushima is regarded as one of the sankei, or three most beautiful places in Japan. And it well deserves this reputation, for there are indeed few fairer natural scenes on earth. It reminds the traveler of the Thousand Isles of Canada and the English lakes all in one. Here innumerable pine clad islands lift their fronded flags through the purple haze over a sea of silver green, and when the sun sets, throwing the myriad islands into a golden glow, the mind is charmed to ecstasy. Matsushima bay is more than six miles long and five wide, and to visit all the hundreds of islands that adorn the surface of the sea in this place would take years. Yet one may see the best part of Matsushima in two or three days if one knows how. —Japan Magazine.

She Wanted a Title.

A title gives the right to embroider a coronet on the body linen. It is pleasant in a railway train to pour scent on a coroneted pocket handkerchief. La Marchese Niel thought so, I dare say, in the summer of 1859. Her husband escaped the carnage of one of the battles fought that year in Lombardy. He also assured against heavy odds and the terrible blunders of the general staff victory to the French. His wife was with him when his marshal's baton was brought in with a letter from Napoleon III. Niel thought Mme. Niel would have melted into tears from joy. Instead of that her mouth fell. "You are marshal, you are," she said. "That does not make me duchess." —London Truth.

How Ono Got the Name.

The father of a boy baby wished him to be christened Thomas. The mother favored the name of Robert. When they arrived at the church the matter was still undecided. The father informed the curate that the child's name was Thomas. "Oh, no!" gasped the mother distressfully. The curate, regarding the woman as the ruling spirit, promptly baptized the infant Ono. The grave of Ono Titchener is to be seen in the churchyard of St. Giles', Camberwell. —London News.

Make the Days Count.

The course of life is a thousand trifles then some crisis; nothing but green leaves under common sun and shadow and then a storm or a rare June day. And far more than the storm or the perfect day the common sun and common shadow do to make the autumn rich. It is the "every days" that count. They must be made to tell or the years have failed. —William C. Gannett.

He Liked the Name.

"I suppose you would never be willing to live anywhere except in your beloved Boston?" "Well, there is a town in Wisconsin which has a name that attracts me." "What town is that?" "Superior." —Pittsburgh Post.

Admitted the Strength.

Mrs. Angler: Are you sure you caught this fish? Mr. A.: Sure! Mr. A.: It smells very strong. Mr. A.: Strong! I should say it was! It nearly pulled me overboard. Exchange.

VON BUELOW

APPOINTMENT AS AMBASSADOR TO ITALY IS CAUSE OF MUCH COMMENT.

Some Believe Germany Intends to Prevent Italy From Joining Allies.

ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM

Rome, Friday, Dec. 4. The formal announcement that Prince Bernhard von Buelow, former chancellor of the German empire, had been placed at the head of the German embassy here, from the present ambassador, Herr von Flotow, who is to be absent for three months on account of his health, has aroused much interested comment in Rome.

Although this move has been reported as probable for some time, it may be said to have produced a considerable sensation. It is remarkable that a former chancellor should become the head of an embassy which is by no means the most important in the German diplomatic service. The appointment was discussed with animation of Italian political circles today. Some statesmen declared it to be Germany's answer to the declaration of Premier Salandra to the Italian parliament. Thursday, that there was no clause in any treaty binding Italy to participate with the Teuton allies in the present conflict, and that Italy would maintain her present attitude of watchful and armed neutrality. While others recalled that Prince von Buelow had been most popular in Rome since he was ambassador to the quiralina twenty years ago, and that his wife belongs to a very prominent Italian family. Many observers are of the opinion that the appointment of Prince von Buelow to this post means that Berlin is about to exercise strong pressure to prevent Italy from passing to the side of the allies.

If There Were No Flowers.

Can we conceive what humanity would be if it did not know the flowers? If these did not exist, if they had all been hidden from our gaze, as are probably a thousand or less fairy sights that are all around us, but invisible to our eyes, would our character, our faculties, our sense of the beautiful, our attitude for happiness, be quite the same? We should, it is true, in nature have other splendid manifestations of luxury, exuberance and grace; other dazzling efforts of the superlative forces; the sun, the stars, the varied lights of the moon, the azure and the ocean, the dawns and twilights, the mountain, the plain, the forest and the rivers, the light and the trees and, lastly, nearer to us, birds, precious stones and woman. These are the ornaments of our planet. Yet but, for the last three, which belong to the same smile of nature, how grave, austere, almost sad, would be the education of our eye without the softness which the flowers give! —Maurice Maeterlinck.

A King as a Prisoner.

In these days no prisoner of war is likely to be so well treated as King John I. of France, who, after his capture at Poitiers, was lodged first at the palace of the Savoy and subsequently at Somerton castle, in Lincolnshire. Before being removed to Somerton John had to dismiss forty-two members of his suit, but even then there remained about forty persons in attendance on him. Among these were two chaplains, a secretary, a clerk of the chapel, a physician, a maitre d'hotel, three pages, four valets, three wardrobe men, three furriers, six grooms, two cooks, a fruiterer, a spiceman, a tester, a barber and a person entitled "le roy des menestreaux," who appears to have been a maker of musical instruments and clocks as well as a minstrel. He was also allowed to keep gamecocks, falcons and greyhounds and to go out hawking and coursing. —London Chronicle.

Charms of the Roman Farmer.

Cfurius Cresimus, a freedman who had much larger crops upon a small field than his neighbors had upon their extensive farms, was greatly envied and accused of withdrawing the produce of the people's fields by witchcraft.

Being brought to trial and fearing that he would be condemned, immediately before the question was put he produced in the forum all his laboring attendants and brought along with him a stout daughter, well fed and clothed, his iron tools of the most excellent construction, large spades, heavy shares and oxen in the best order.

Then he said: "These, Romans, are my charms. Nor can I show you or bring into the forum my night meditations, my watchings and my toils." He was unanimously acquitted. —Pliny.

Quintilian's Bereavements.

No event in literary history is more impressive than the fate of Quintilian. It was in the midst of his elaborate work, composed to form the literary character of a son, his great hope, that he experienced the most terrible affliction in the domestic life of genius, the death of his wife and one child after the other. It was a moral earthquake, with a single survivor and lost the rains. An awful burst of personal and literary affliction breaks forth in Quintilian's lamentation: "My wealth and my writings, the fruits of a long and painful life, must now be reserved only for strangers. All I possess is forlorn and no longer mine." The husband, the father and the man of genius utter one cry of agony.

A COMMENDABLE MOVEMENT

The Practical Christmas Gift Idea

THIS is to be a practical Christmas. The indications are that while the exchange of gifts among relatives and friends will be as free and generous as ever, more people than usual will select articles which are really useful.

There is good reason for this attitude. While this country, fortunately, is far removed from the scenes of carnage and suffering created in Europe by the dread hand of war, the thoughts and imaginations of our people have been profoundly stirred by the stories and descriptions which have come to us, through eye witnesses of battlefields, ruined towns, trains full of wounded, groups of refugees and other appalling features of this terrific struggle.

In the light of these happenings thoughtful Americans are less prone to extravagance and useless expenditures, even though they may not themselves feel the need of economy. Many, too, are generously contributing to the various relief funds. They are inclined, therefore, to look somewhat askance at those kinds of merely beautiful and attractive articles which in happier seasons they have purchased to bestow upon their friends. The spirit of helpfulness, which has prompted their contributions to funds for relieving the afflicted in other countries, also suggests the spirit of practical gifts for those nearer and dearer to them.

Altogether, it is safe to predict that this Practical Gift Movement will win an unusual number of adherents. From coast to coast, Christmas plans are being made along this broad idea, and everywhere people express themselves as heartily in its favor.

Of course, there are still many who will select their gifts on the ground of beauty or rarity, rather than of utility. Apart from these, however, thousands of our citizens will hail with acclamation the idea of making practical gifts during this season at least. And the season will be none the less happy and none the less hearty on that account.

Too Clever.

Habitués of Christie's, London's famous auction room, tell an excellent story of a certain nouveau riche, who sought to be in the fashion by attending auction rooms and picking up trifles, not because he had the collecting mania, but because if he was a purchaser at the sale of Lord Somers's collection his name would very likely get into the papers. The parvenu, however, burned his fingers rather badly, and incidentally illustrated the adage that a little learning is a dangerous thing. Some silverware of the Stuart period was put up, and bidding started at a few shillings. Mr. Parvenu was amazed and had visions of acquiring fame for a guinea or so. The bidding rose and rose, and Mr. Parvenu had to go to £4 odd before the silver was his. He put down a "bidder" and much merriment. For silverware, he had forgotten, or perhaps never knew, is auctioned by the ounce, and Mr. Parvenu's bid for fame had cost him £700 odd. —London Times.

Aaron Bancroft's Compliment.

Aaron Bancroft, the father of the great American historian, was a Massachusetts clergyman who revolted against the stern theology of the day. The young minister found himself held at arm's length by the surrounding clergy. In "The Life and Letters of George Bancroft" Mr. M. A. De W. Howe quotes the following item from the old minister's "Memoranda":

"An honest but not very intelligent farmer of my parish some ten years ago needed me in this manner: 'Well, Mr. Bancroft, what do you think the people of the old parish say of you now?'"

"I answered, 'I hope something very good.' 'They say, 'If we find fault with him he does not mind it at all, and if we praise him he does not mind it, but keeps steadily on his own way. We therefore have concluded that it is best to let him alone.'"

"The farmer mentioned the fact as a subject of laughter, but I thought and still think that, taking the declaration in its bearings, it was the proudest compliment I have received through my whole life."

The Reciprocal Value of Church Service!

(WRITTEN FOR THE ADVOCATE BY JAMES R. HOPELEY.)

"There is a natural body, and there is a spiritual body."

It is essential that every man should establish this fact, firmly in his mind, and secure the proper development of both, for his true enjoyment now, and for that time when "at his right hand are pleasures forever."

The need of the times is for men who will join in bringing sociability up to a Christian standard, who will stimulate citizenship to better ends and better aims.

Church association has an advantage aside from the spiritual value of association with good people.

There are those who go to church only for the good they can get out of it; the good they can absorb from sermon, song and prayer.

There are others who enjoy church affiliation for the good they can put into it, the good of helping others materially, mentally, morally and spiritually.

The church offers a place for exchange of ideas, of consultation about purposes, of interchange of desires, to the end that all may get that which he and his neighbor needs.

No one who expects to get all good, without contributing good, will feel he is doing his just portion.

"If thou hast something, bring thy goods; a fair

"AS YE HAVE OPPORTUNITY, THEREFORE, DO GOOD TO ALL MEN ESPECIALLY UN-TO THEM WHO ARE OF THE HOUSEHOLD OF FAITH"

HOW MUCH TO LIVE?

A very troublesome question now-a-days! And the answer seems always and forever on the ascending scale.

"Cost of living" is here, today, a national issue.

It has always been with us, only we haven't been educated to realize it until lately.

It will always be with us more or less, even in the most advanced state of society.

This suggests the necessity for life insurance.

You ask "Why?"

Because after you are gone your family—not you—will have this all-important question to answer.

Life insurance will help them to do so successfully.

"How Much To Live?" are blood cousins. Therefore every man, in considering life insurance as a practical problem should approach it from this side. "How Much Annually Does It Cost Me To Live?"

Set the figures down.

Now take the annual luxury necessities—things that can be dispensed with. How much does that leave?

Now take yourself out—Your annual cost to live—just as if you were gone away for good and all.

This leaves—the bare net cost to live, of your family!

Here is what we are getting at—the intimate relationship of "How much to live" and "How much to insure."

If, as it may be, and is, in thousands of cases, your estate at your death is wholly in life insurance, how much income will it produce for your family, if carefully invested at 4 1/2 per cent—or 5 per cent?

Will it produce an income equal to what you found to be the present bare net cost of keeping your family alive?

Will it produce the half of that? Will your family need that much—or more?

This is the way to answer the question—"How much to insure?" And every man under whose eye this message comes, should ask himself this question. And, in so far as it is possible, let the answer be:

If more men would take such a paper, work out this problem, then look up the nearest life insurance Agent and take steps to bring their "bare net cost" something nearer to its proper proportions in relation to cost to live, there would be fewer widows desperately battling to keep body and soul together, fewer children out working when they should be in the school room.

Life insurance is the best property known for this purpose; the immediate outlay is so small, the immediately possible prospective return so great. Moreover, it is the only property which is certain to go where you want it to go. It can be as liquid as cash, and the family may have it. Creditors must look elsewhere. And, if you want to make doubly sure, arrange to have it paid

Y M C A NOTES

The Builders Exchange met in the building on Tuesday evening. A banquet was served to them at 8:30 o'clock. Twenty-eight sat at the tables.

Wilson W. Galloway, physical director, spent the first three days of the week at the State Physical Directors' Conference at Groveport, O.

An effort is being made to raise $100.00 for much needed equipment for the boys' room. Letters were sent to ten ladies whom it was thought would be interested and willing to help in such a project. It has been more than a week since the letters were sent and only two have responded, each giving $10. Are there not others who will help? The names of these ladies will be reported later. This is a real need.

A membership in the Y. M. C. A. makes a good Christmas present for a boy. Many boys want them. We wish every boy could have one without cost, but this has not yet been made possible. Special rates are being made.

The educational work among the foreign speaking men has a nice start in the Riverside building. There were sixteen present Thursday evening. The boys say there will be twenty-five out next Monday.

Plans are in progress for the repairing of the bowling alleys. They will soon be opened to the members only. Are there any bowlers who want to help with the expense? If so, see Mr. Galloway.

The boy's Bible class met on Tuesday evening as usual and the Educational classes on Monday and Thursday evenings. The total attendance was sixty-four.

The Business Men's Gym class met for a chicken supper Friday evening. There were 15 present. Physical Director Galloway spoke to the men along the lines of better physical training and also made a report of the State Physical Directors' Conference which he had just attended.

Mr. J. E. Rawlings, member of the York, Pa., Association, paid the local association a visit on Wednesday.

New members added since last Saturday are Dale Warner, Pete Traikoff, Merle Orr, Carl Siegel, and Walter Early. Others have talked about it.

Beginning Sunday, December 6, the building will be open for the use of the reading room on Sunday afternoons from 1:30 to 5:00 o'clock. Members taking advantage of this privilege are urged to observe proper decorum. This privilege is granted to seniors only.

Work was secured for two boys since last Saturday.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

Miss Ethel Brown of Columbus, O., was a guest in the Residence Home this week. Miss Brown is interested in the industrial commission, promoting "Thrifty and Efficiency" among wage-earning girls.

Monday night when the Industrial club met at Y. W. C. A. for business meetings, one more new club—girls from Young's clear factories—organized with 35 charter members. They have constitution written but haven't decided upon a suitable name. The L. L. L. club received ten new members into their club and the Starlight has added three more.

Dr. Essington and surgical nurse, demonstrated "First Aid at the Hairer factory Tuesday noon for the A. B. A. club.

The First Grade Cooking class has made some very delicious Christmas fruit cakes, which are for sale at the Y. W. C. A. Domestic science department.

The "waiting list" of girls seeking entrance to the Residence Home gets larger each week. All transient rooms but the "Alyria" room have been rented to regular boarders, and the reading room made into a bed room. There are eight girls in three rooms.

Three girls are also registered in Bible class studying. Women of Ancient Israel," which meets Tuesdays at 7:30 p. m. Mrs. J. B. Jones is teacher. Room for more work you join us? You will enjoy it.

The Foreign Association Program is to be given by the Association Girls Thursday, December 8, 8 p. m. in the High School auditorium. Remember the date. Show your interest in the girls.

AMERICAN FIRMS ARE TO BID FOR FRENCH BRIDGES

(Associated Press Telegrams)
New York, Dec. 5.—Frederick Holbrook and William S. Patten of the Holbrook, Cabot & Rollins corporation, A. B. Adams, a contractor, and three representatives of the Lackawanna Steel company, sailed on the Lusitania for France, where, it is reported, they will visit the battlefields and later submit bids to the French government for the reconstruction of bridges destroyed by armies of the Allies and Germany in the war.

The proposed contract will call for an immense amount of work and the shipment of millions of dollars worth of ammunition steel to France, it is said.

Representatives of the Lackawanna Steel company would not confirm or deny the report previous to the sailing of the Lusitania.

WE'LL BE MIGHTY GLAD

To look you in the face a generation after we have sold you a ROUND OAK. Disappointments are unheard of from the users of this specialty, made by folks who know how. It combines all the excellent and exclusive advantage of the genuine old Round Oak with the added feature of the Ash Pan in the seamless, one-piece base, for those who demand a plain-finish ash-pan stove.

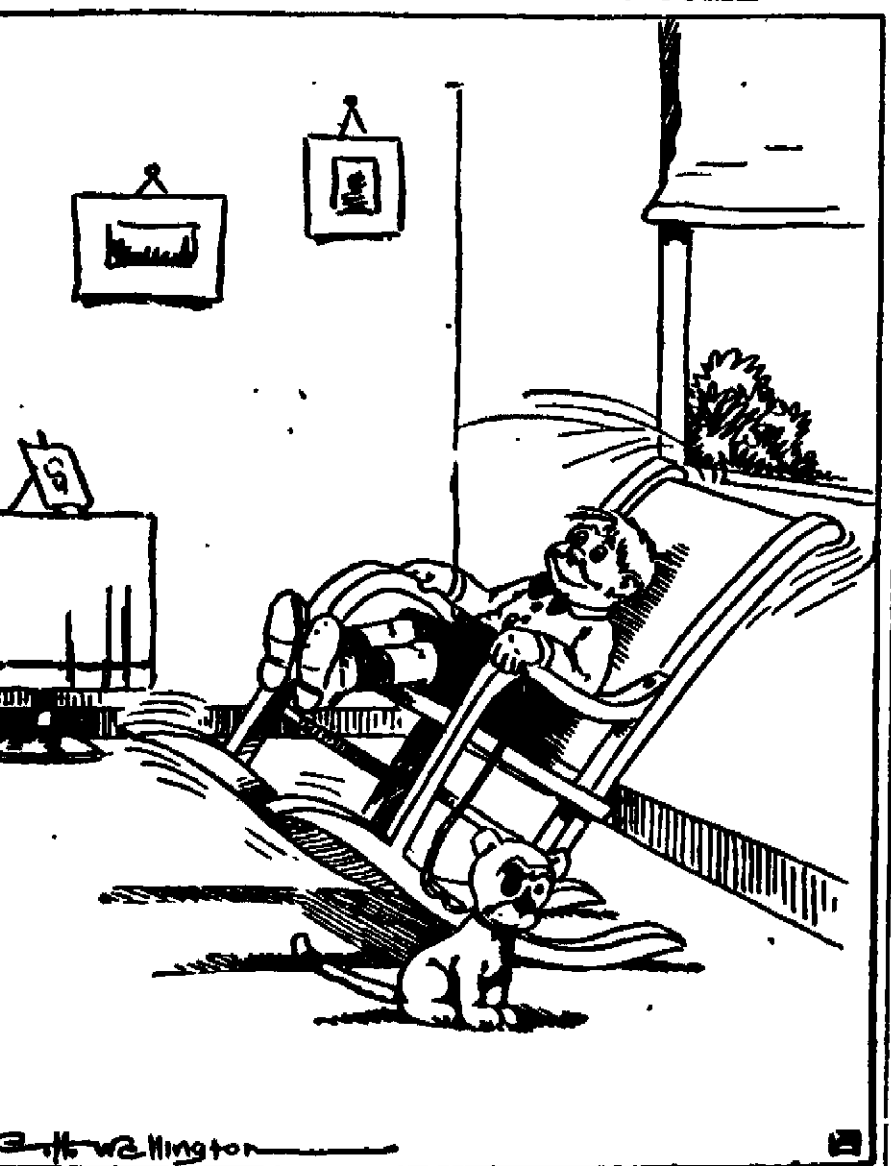

The Hot-Blast device is powerful and efficient. Cone Center Grate prevents clinkers, while the air-tight construction spells control and economy. These excellent features, together with its adaptability to all fuels, marks it as the stove worthy of your investigation.

Come in and ask us to explain its merits and exclusive advantages.

Mrs. James Morgan, Jr., delightfully entertained the following guests at her beautiful country home: Mesdames C. Morrison, Charles Hoffman, Homer Rodgers, Nettie Hartman, Mabel Goldsmith, Maud Parr, Laura Morrison, Mrs. Frank Vermillion, William Goldsmith and Arthur Snelling and Misses Ruth Vermillion, Margaret Irwin, Emma Dodson, Masters Robert Handley, Holmes Vermillion and Dale Parr.

The afternoon was pleasantly passed with sewing and at 4 o'clock a dainty luncheon was served the guests by the hostess.

A very pleasant surprise was given Mrs. C. B. Keller on Tuesday afternoon by the members of the Harmonious club. The hours were spent in needlework and a delicious luncheon was served from the daintily prepared baskets brought by the guests.

Miss Helen Talbot was pleasantly surprised by the members of the Commercial department of St. Francis de Sales school at her home in South First street on Wednesday evening. Games, music, and cards afforded the amusements and the prizes for the latter were received by Raymond Wade, John Callahan, Mary Gilmore, and Kathleen Payne. Having spent an enjoyable evening, a delicious luncheon was served to the following: Misses Mildred Prior, Mary Gilmore, Kathleen Payne, Meriam Fitzpatrick, Alice Callahan, Lillian Payne, Mary Prior, Eva Winters, Jeanette Talbot, Messrs. Ernest Lieber, Hugh Conlon, Raymond Maybold, John Callahan, Maurice Kennedy, Oren Payne, Charles Greely, Raymond Wade, William Prior, Joseph Homer, Edward Schimp.

The hostess was assisted by Misses Mary and Anna Prior. Miss Helen received many beautiful and useful presents.

Mrs. Farmer delightfully entertained the I. M. W. club Wednesday afternoon. The hours were devoted to sewing and in the guessing contest the prizes were awarded to Mrs. Henry Loughman and Mrs. J. M. Farmer. A very interesting paper was read by Mrs. Loughman. The guests of the club were Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Wichham, and Mrs. Muhleman.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. S. McCracken, 331 Central avenue.

The Coterie club members were delightfully entertained at the home of Mrs. Clifford Frye in North Fourth street on Friday afternoon and the interesting program from the calendar follows:

Club Life.
Do It's Demands Add to Woman's Burdens?—Mrs. Hunt.
Does It Develop Self-Reliance and Self-Control?—Mrs. Howard.
Current History—Mrs. Shaw.
Critic—Mrs. Glancy.
Roll Call—Miscellaneous.

Luncheon was served the members and following guests: Mrs. Arthur Holler, Mrs. Frank Grandle, and Mrs. Jason Wolf of Columbus. The hostess was assisted by little Misses Evelyn Frye and Esther Grandle.

The Semper Fidelis class of the First Presbyterian church will meet Tuesday evening, December 8 with Miss Maude Holler, 304 North Fourth street.

The Unity Reading Circle gave another of its delightful guest evenings and banquets on Thursday evening of this week. This has been an annual custom of the club for many years, with the exception of last year, when the money ordinarily used for the banquet and social purposes was turned into the public library fund for the purchase of books for that much-needed institution.

The home of Miss Emma Lisey of North Morris street was the scene of the festivities of Thursday evening, and the spacious rooms were beautifully in their decorations suggestive of the approaching yuletide—the club color scheme of red and white being carried out by the use of bells and streamers prettily festooned throughout the rooms, while large clusters of carnations, the club flower, lent their fragrance and beauty to the occasion. By 7:30 fifty of the members and friends of the club had gathered and all sat down to small candle-lighted tables, accommodating two couples each, the couples having been matched by means of tally cards. During the banquet hour and between the four courses of the dinner, the guests were given paper and pencils and engaged in amusing contests which demonstrated the artistic ability, or otherwise, of those taking part.

At the end of the menu the president of the club, Mrs. E. E. Moore, acting as toastmistress, gave a witty and interesting address and introduced, first, Mrs. E. V. Bowers, who ably and humorously responded to the toast, "Our Guests." Rev. Mr. Bowden was next introduced and gave a toast to "The Club," bringing out the many good points of a literary club, and complimenting the ladies for their aspirations and interest in the higher things of life, interspersing his remarks with much good humor, which all enjoyed. A humorous reading given in a very pleasing manner by Mrs. Dennis Bell, closed the literary program, and the remainder of the evening was spent in a progressive game of anagrams. Mrs. Lloyd G. Millitor carrying off the prize for progressiveness.

Mrs. Joseph Sprague entertained a few friends on Friday afternoon at her home in North First street.

Mrs. George Weaver of Elmwood avenue entertained the Miconette Sewing Club on Friday afternoon. The guests were Mrs. Ernest Corbman, Mrs. Orie McWilliams, Mrs. Ada Coulter, Misses Nellie Jones, Ella Ritter, Grace Jones and Helen Nichols.

"Money is still tight," said the speaker. "No wonder, considering how much of it goes into saloons," replied the reformer.

When Ladies Wear Masks.

In the seventeenth century ladies wore masks in public, and great was the variety of face screens that were seen. Ladies who had "corolline" lips preferred short masks, as was natural. For others who wished to hide the lower part of the face the mask was completed by a chin piece of linen, which afterward passed under the chin and over the ears. In 1662 a new mask called the mimi, from the Italian mimes, was all the rage and threatened to usurp the place of the black one. It was even the cause of violent quarrels between the ladies who held to the latter and those who preferred the latest novelty. Some years later it became the fashion to trim the upper part of the mask with a ruche of lace, to lengthen it with a beard of the same material and even to cover it more or less with lace to the borders of the eyebrows. Young ladies of this period, however, frequently contented themselves with covering the face simply with a piece of black crape for coquetry's sake and to appear the fairer.

The Boy Told Them.

"An odd incident happened in Albany a number of years ago when I was a member of the legislature," said a judge. "One day for some reason a member wanted to verify a certain passage from the Ten Commandments, but when a Bible was handed him he did not know where to look. Neither did any of his colleagues know. Nearly everybody was aware that the divine laws were somewhere hidden away in the Old Testament, but this was the end of the combined knowledge of the assembly. At this juncture a meek faced little page, a youngster of some twelve summers, piped up that if the gentleman would look in the twentieth chapter of Exodus he would find the commandments. It was a rather disconcerting thing that a chamber of grown men had to acknowledge the superior information of a child."

Immune.

A mounted policeman riding through Central park came upon some little girls picking handfuls of flowers.

"Hurry up," he heard them say. "Teacher's liable to catch up any minute."

Dismounting from his horse, he grasped one child by the arm.

"Stop it!" he thundered. "You know it's against the law to pick the park flowers! Why, I could arrest you for this, and I'm not at all sure that I won't go ahead and do my duty!"

The small girl wriggled from his grasp. "Oh, stop your fussing and go along!" she said contemptuously as she watched a tall woman hurrying along the path. "You can't pinch us. Why, we're pinched already. We all come from the reform school."—Everybody.

The Sport of Kings.

In very early times some kings, having made war, went forth in person to fight the battles, ignorantly supposing there was no other way.

But they had not proceeded far till they were swept aside by a great multitude rushing to the front.

"Who are you?" asked the kings, in no small curiosity.

"We? Why, we're the precious fools who are always ready to make somebody else's quarrel our own—patriots, in short!" replied the multitude.

"Precious, indeed!" chuckled the kings, and risked their skins no more. —New York Post.

The Hydraulic Ram.

She was a pretty girl and was, with her escort, watching a piece of engineering work that was being done about a new bridge. Every once in awhile there came a peculiar grinding noise whose origin she could not locate.

"Jim, what makes that noise?" she asked.

"Oh, that's the hydraulic ram."

"For the land's sake! Where do they keep him?"—Indianapolis News.

Beware of Greeks.

"Counter certainly is generous with that car of his. He has offered to teach me how to run it and lend it to me for an entire day."

"Yes? He lent it to me the last time a part was wearing out. Of course I had to replace it when the thing broke down."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Her Discovery.

Small Eloise came home from her first day at school eager to show her mother the physical exercises she had learned.

"It's called fistical culture, mamma," she explained, "because you do nearly all of it with your fists."—Chicago News.

Barbers in China.

In China the barbers carry tools, small tubs, razors and scissors about the streets, stopping on the sidewalk to perform their work. Just as scissors gliders do in America.

Butter and Olive Oil.

Theoretically, on a full meal of butter or olive oil we should be able to do two and a half times the work that a full meal of meat, or beans, or bread would produce.

A Vow Fulfilled.

"Gladly vowed she would never live to be gray haired."

"She has kept her oath. I found her in a dying condition." Baltimore American.

Shy on Both.

"The golden eagle is very rare, isn't it?"

"But I don't find it any more so than just the ordinary ten dollar bill." Judge.

China has the world's oldest chain bridges.

Goldsmith's Combination.

Goldsmith did all his own writing. A voluminous author was one day expatiating on the advantages of employing amanuensis and thus saving time and the trouble of writing. "How do you manage it?" said Goldsmith. "Why, I walk about the room and dictate to a clever man, who puts down very correctly all that I tell him, so that I have nothing to do, more than just to look over the manuscript and then send it to the press." Goldsmith was delighted with the information and desired his friend to send the amanuensis the next morning. The scribe accordingly waited upon the doctor, with the implements of pens, ink and paper placed in order before him, ready to catch the oracle. Goldsmith paced the room with great solemnity several times for some time, but after racking his brains to no purpose he put his hand into his pocket and, presenting the amanuensis with a guinea, said: "It won't do, my friend. I find that my head and hand must go together."

Power.

You want power? Well, the desire is legitimate and its realization possible. But what kind of power? Physical? Then stop fretting, take exercise, avoid excesses, form regular habits, eat nourishing food and sleep long and soundly. That means a sound body.

Mental power? All right. Use your brain. Think. Think systematically. Think persistently. Think below the surface. Grapple with the great thoughts which others have put into books. That will give fiber and grip to your mental life.

Or is it moral power that you are after? Very good. It may be had. Think pure thoughts. Look at lofty ideals. Live right. Crucify self. Loathe all villainess. Develop the good Samaritan side of your life. That will promote a high morality.—Bishop Joseph F. Berry.

Monster Fog Horns.

One of the monster foghorns in the United States lighthouse service is capable of emitting a sound that can be heard twenty-five or thirty miles at sea. It looks like half of a submarine boat, and a man of ordinary stature can easily step into it. These monster foghorns are worked by compressed air furnished by an engine of from twenty to twenty-five horsepower. It would be something miraculous could lung power be generated on the foghorn scale. For instance, the siren is blown periodically every seventy, eighty or ninety seconds or so, the actual blast lasting about two or three seconds. That means that while the compressed air is making mournful cadences something like 500 horsepower is being expended in the production of the sound.—Boston Herald.

Stung.

He was evidently a very angry man, and an acquaintance hastened to express his sympathy.

When the angry man became coherent he said: "I was coming home in a car and noticed a half dollar piece on the floor. No one claimed it. I talked it over with the conductor, and we took a quarter each."

"Well," said the sympathizer, "half a loaf, you know, is better than no bread."

"Certainly," said the angry man. "But I find now that I'm a quarter short."

The Word "Doll."

The word "doll" may be taken as meaning the same thing as "idol"—that is, an image—generally speaking, an image of the human form. The French word "poupée" and the German "puppe" were derived from the Latin "pupa," the word used for a chrysalis (insect stage), the earlier forms of dolls being remarkably like the pupae of insects. Our word puppet is derived also from the same root.

Bessie's Task.

"Mamma," said little Bessie at table one noon, "I'm to write something to read in school, but I've forgotten what teacher called it."

"An essay perhaps," suggested Bessie's father.

"An oration," offered the little maid's high school brother teasingly.

"No," said Bessie, suddenly brightening. "I remember now what it is—it's an imposition."

THE BUTLER FURNACE Solves The Gas Problem

It will burn slack coal as well as other furnaces burn the best.

What are you now spending for coal, coke, slack, wood or gas?

Whatever the sum is, you can cut it in half with a Butler Furnace. THE BUTLER FURNACE DOES NOT SMOKE—IT BURNS IT. Every cubic foot of smoke that comes from your chimney represents just so much wasted heat energy that you pay for in your fuel bills. Every pound of soot that lodges in your pipes, every shovelful of ashes taken from the clean-out is a total loss. The Butler turns this waste into power. You are now paying for a Butler Furnace by not having one—in the fuel you waste.

The first cost is the only cost of a Butler. There are no fire bowls to crack. No repairs. An extra amount of radiating surface.

The Butler Furnace will last a lifetime. It's the one furnace you want.

We give prompt and careful attention to all inquiries.

What Our Xmas Money Club Did In 1914

The story of our Christmas Money Club for 1914 reads like a fairy tale.

Last December in only three weeks time more than 1,400 people opened accounts in our Christmas Money Club.

On the 15th of this month we will mail to these people our checks aggregating more than $25,000.00.

They paid nothing to join the Club, we return them all they paid in with 4 per cent. interest.

They never missed the small weekly payments.

Now they have ample cash funds to do their Christmas shopping and they will really enjoy buying every gift which they purchase.

Think how they have all been looking forward to this Christmas—no reluctant giving, no straining to spare the money, no after-Christmas bills to worry about.

Our Club members will have the hard cash to pay for what they buy.

The new Club for 1915 starts December 16.

Make up your mind now to join and YOU will receive these benefits next year.

French Report Some Progress Of 500 Yards

(Associated Press Telegram)
Paris, December 5.—The official French communication given out in Paris this afternoon says that north of the Lys the French troops have made perceptible progress at one point for a distance of 500 yards. The French resisted successfully. German efforts with heavy artillery to drive them back. Rheims again has been bombarded and the French heavy artillery has been used with success against the earth positions. In the Aronne the fighting is being waged hotly.

"To the north of the Lys we have made perceptible progress. Our infantry, making its attack at day-break, occupied in one operation two lines of entrenchments. The advance here was of 500 yards.

"A part of the hamlet of Weiden-dreft, one kilometer to the north-west of Langemark, has remained in our possession. In front of Poescele, half way between Dixmude and Ypres, we took possession, on the right bank of the canal, of a house belonging to a ferry man, the occupation of which has been disputed spiritedly for a month.

"The enemy endeavored, but without success, to compel us by means of a violent attack with heavy artillery to evacuate the conquered ground.

"In the region of Arras and in Champagne, there have been intermittent cannonades from one side and the other. Rheims has been bombarded with particular severity. On our part we have destroyed with our heavy artillery several earth fortifications of the enemy.

"In the Argonne the contest continues to be very hotly waged. We have occupied several trenches and repulsed all counter attacks.

"In Lorraine and in Alsace there is nothing of importance to report."

SAVING CLUB

The Landis Christmas Savings Club was a HAPPY THOUGHT. The phenomenal success of this club proves it performs a valuable service to the community.

THE GREAT ADVANTAGE

NEWARK TRUST CO.
LANDIS CHRISTMAS
SAVING CLUB

Is its co-operation feature. It encourages many to do what few would accomplish individually. It proves the old maxim that in union there is strength.

Members help themselves and help others at the same time. They are sustained in their efforts to save by the enthusiasm of the multitude and have the advantage of system and organization—which finds the highest attainment in a successfully conducted bank.

Every person in Newark ought to join our Landis Christmas Savings Club. It directly benefits members personally and at Christmas booms business for the merchants and helps the town morally and commercially.

OFFICERS

FORM LARGE PROPORTION OF
AUSTRIANS TAKEN PRISON-ERS BY RUSSIANS.

Whose Officers Fall Fighting—Petrograd Critic Makes Contrast Favor Muscovites.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Petrograd, via London, Dec. 3.—The heaviest fighting in the vicinity of Dodz during the past two days was occurred in the course of maneuvering for the possession of Lodz, 15 miles south of Lodz.

On the Szezerow line, which is 15 to 20 miles long, east of the Warta, the fighting appears to indicate that the Germans have been heavily reinforced, and that they are filling the gap between their right wing and the isolated body which has been striving to turn the Russian left.

The German defense on the northern front in east Prussia, occupies a position along the river Angerapp from Gumbinnen to Darkehmen and thence to the northern extremity of the Ma-zurian Lakes at Angerburg. Here the Russians are entrenched close to the German line. On the east front of the lakes and to the Vistula, the Russians have taken a position slightly back of their line of advance of ten days ago.
Both sides appear to be awaiting the outcome of the struggle at Lodz. The main German forces in this region are concentrated about Miawa.

The military critic of the Bourne Gazette reckons that the loss of the Austrians in prisoners is equal to their number of dead and wounded and places the fighting strength of Austria now at two-thirds of what it was at the beginning of the war. He cites the smaller percentage of Austrian artillery falling into Russian hands and says this is accounted for by an explanation in a recent issue of the official war messenger to the effect that since the second Austrian retreat from Poland, the Austrian artillery is always withdrawn from the field before the final issue of the battle. This, he declares, amounts to beginning a retreat before they are actually defeated.

The critic also points out the large proportion of officers, including colonels and lieutenant colonels, among the prisoners, as indicating the demoralization of the Austrian army and the loss of the fighting spirit. He states that the last fifty thousand Austrian prisoners included 600 commissioned officers. The writer contrasts this with the results where the Russians are engaged against the Germans. There, he declares, the officers fall fighting.

IF KIDNEYS ACT
BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache is a sign you have been eating too much meat which forms uric acid.

When you wake up with the backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms backache, sick headache, dizzy spells, your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges.
The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemons, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.
Uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have Jad Salts is a life-saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delicious, effervescent lithia-water drink.

TROUBLE

WITH LOWER ELEMENT OF LOUISVILLE MAY HAVE LED ATTACK ON PLUMMER.

Toledo Man Seriously Hurt While
Gunman, Whom His Wife Killed,
Is Unidentified.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Toledo, Dec. 3.—The identity of the gunman who was killed in the home of Harry C. Plummer, Thursday night, remains a mystery, the police having exhausted every means of tracing the man's movements, leading up to the attack on Plummer,
a former Louisville saloon-keeper.

A ray of hope was had yesterday in the finding of the name of John D. Larkin, Jr., of Buffalo, N. Y., sewed inside the waist-band of the trousers which the dead man wore.
It was thought this would serve as a means of identification, but it developed that the clothing was part of some loot stolen in a Buffalo suburb.
Unless the body is claimed by relatives or friends within the next 48 hours, it will occupy an unmarked grave in one of the city cemeteries, burial to be at the expense of the county.

Plummer, in a serious condition at a hospital, maintains he knew the men in Louisville, but cannot remember their names. There were four of them. The other three are at large despite the fact that a dragnet has been spread over the city from the time the crime was committed. Police are more determined than ever that the men came from the underworld of Louisville, Ky., to wreak vengeance on Plummer, whose saloon was in the tenderloin district.
Word received here last night was to the effect that Plummer had had considerable trouble with the riff-raff of the Kentucky city. Since Thursday night nearly 100 suspicious characters have been arrested by the police.
Chief of Police George Murphy, Friday, declared war on the Toledo crooks with which the town is flooded. "The crooks must go," he said. "I will reorganize this police force into an army to fight the men who have been robbing and murdering the citizens of Toledo. All rooming houses, saloons, hotels, or other places where crooks are harbored will be rawhided out of business.
Any member of the force or other employees of the city who know these men and harbor them are worse than the crooks themselves and will be treated accordingly. Toledo will no longer be a soft nest for criminals as it has been for many years."

THE MONSTER MASS

MEETINGS TOMORROW.

Evangelist Lee Starke will say farewell to Newark with three strong talks tomorrow at the East Main Street M. T. church, at 10:30 his subject is to be, "Ye are Not Your Own," at 2:30 p. m. he will talk to men only the topic being, "A Hebrew Hero" and at the great peoples service at 7 p. m. Mr. Starke's last address to the people of this city, he will take for his theme "Have A Look." There is to be a special subject at the church tonight, the subject of the evangelist is to be, "More Joy" and after a short talk the testimony every body invited to all these services. Mr. Starke has endeared himself to the hearts of the people of East Newark, and his manly manner of preaching, together with his intense love for everybody has won for him a vast number of friends who will be genuinely sorry to see him leave.

Dancing Under Difficulties.

Probably the most extraordinary dance ever known was one given at the British legation during the siege of Peking. Death was treading on the very heels of the dancers, but they gave a regular and very successful ball—not a scratch "hop," but with a band, supper, programs and all the other apparatus. The dancing began at 10 p. m. and lasted most of the night, while all the time thousands of Chinese fiends were swarming round the place, yelling for blood.

When the relieved officers came off duty they repaired to the ballroom, while the former batch of male porterners took up their rifles and went out to the defense. Not a single casualty had occurred then, nor did one happen during the ball, by some extraordinary chance; yet some determined assaults were made by the besiegers, and three times a waltz was stopped short in the middle for all the men to turn out and help in the defense.—London Answers.

A Dog and a Monkey.

A good story is told of a dog that one day discovered an organ grinder's monkey seated upon a bank and at once made a rush for it. The monkey, which was attired in jacket and hat, awaited the onset so undisturbed that the dog halted within a few feet to recognize it. After awhile the dog seemed to recover from his surprise and was about to make a spring when the monkey raised his hand and saluted by taking off his hat. The effect was magical. The dog's head and tail dropped, and he snickered away thoroughly discomfited.

MUNICIPAL TREE COMMITTEE WILL MEET TUESDAY EVE

Another meeting of the committee in charge of the arrangements for the municipal Christmas tree, will be held next Tuesday evening when the details of the work this year will be announced. President Morgan, heading the committee, will have his committees ready to announce at that time and it is probable that the real work of raising the fund will be started. This will be done by a general appeal through the newspapers. The tree will be placed in position during the coming week and will be ready for the decorations when this point in the celebration is reached.

These community Christmas trees have become popular and permanent institutions in every city where they have been tried. Newark people will not soon forget the beautiful tree which stood in the court house park last Christmas and which brought joy to many because of the sentiment represented by it.

Many children of the city have missed one of the joys of childhood because their parents have been unable to provide a tree with its candles and glittering ornaments. The municipal tree gives to all the privilege of this pleasure.

The program of Christmas music which marked the lighting of the tree was edifying and pleasing and could not help but be a benefit to the community.

Surnames in Bosnia.

Bosnia is a land where a man's surname very often varies according to his religion. In the old days families often divided their members between Christianity and Islam so as to be certain to have friends on the winning side, much as old Scottish families in some cases deliberately divided themselves between Jacobite and Hanoverian. In Bosnia cases, Sir Charles Elliot explains, all representatives of the original family recognize each other as relatives, but generally they use different names for the two branches, employing the same meaning in Slavonic and Turkish respectively. For example, there are the names Balkovich, Jemeticich (C.R.) and "Jennet" (meaning paradise) and Sokolich and Stokhovich ("Sokol" and "Shahin" meaning falcon).

MAYOR TRY'S NEW METHOD TO CLEAR CITY OF TRAMPS

By assessing two hoboes fines of $5 and costs each and ordering them committed to the city prison on bread and water, Mayor Higbee places in operation a new plan to rid the city of tramps and other desirables who have become a nuisance to the residents during the past few months. This plan is working well with the habitual offenders who deliberately plan to get into the prison where the food and shelter is better than the men are accustomed to. The mayor hopes to discourage tramps from making Newark a "stopover point."

WHITE SOX SIGN CHINESE PLAYER.

Associated Press Telegram.
 Chicago, Dec. 3.—A full blood Chinese baseball player has been signed by the Chicago American League club, it was announced today. It was Lai Tin, captain of the Honolulu Chinese team.

This is the first Chinese player to be signed to play with a major league club. The captain Tin's regular position is shortstop. He batted .300 while playing in Honolulu. He holds two Hawaiian Athletic records—a 100 yard dash in 16.15 and a ten-mile run in 56.15.

NOTED PRELATE DEAD.

London, Dec. 3.—The Central News has received a dispatch from its Rome correspondent stating that Cardinal Amleto di Pietro, Dean of the Sacred College died this morning.

NEW GAS WELL CONTINUES FLOW

The new gas well on the Bryn Du farm, a short distance east of Granville, owned by J. S. Jones, continues to do about 800,000 cubic feet per day. The well was brought in some days ago by Contractor Jos. Shirer, of this city, who pronounces it an excellent well and one of the best as regards the quality of gas in the local field.

The gas has been piped over the farm and connected with the various buildings. Owing to the fact that Mr. Jones is busy every minute of his time with his new coal properties, it is hardly probable that he will do any further drilling before next summer. The field where the Jones well was drilled is considered splendid territory by the gas experts.

CLEVELANDER WOULD SOLVE GAS QUESTION

A. R. Thompson of Cleveland, a real estate and investment broker has written to Mayor Bixbee offering to settle the gas question for Newark in an easy manner and at the same time provide citizens with a supply of electric current at 3 cents per kilowatt. His plan involves the expenditure of a mere $75,000 by the city.

In a letter which the mayor received Saturday morning, Mr. Thompson states that he is interested in a company producing gas which he says can be sold to the city for 22 1/2 cents per thousand. He says the plant can also furnish the electric current.

"All that would be asked," says Mr. Thompson, "is that the city subscribe for $75,000 worth of stock in the company. The stock would pay dividends of 10 per cent. after the plant had been in operation a year."

"I'll subscribe $50,000 worth of stock, if I take any," said Mayor Bixbee. The reporter agreed to take the other $25,000 worth under the same conditions.

The Courts

In the case of the Licking County Bank and Trust Co. vs. P. S. Phillips, a suit to recover upon a note for $1000, the court and jury heard a portion of the testimony late Friday afternoon, and the remainder of the testimony will be heard at 1 o'clock Monday next.

The State of Ohio vs. Ray Penick, heretofore submitted to the court upon a motion to modify a former order of the court. The court overruled the motion. The former order stands and defendant is to pay $15 a month for the support of his minor child.

The Note, Bond and Mortgage Co. vs. Embury & Coffman. A suit upon several promissory notes. Motion to the petition sustained; leave given to amend.

Albert S. Whitehead, by Howard Whitehead, his next friend, vs. Geo. Dumbauld. Submitted to the court upon a motion to make the petition more definite and certain. A suit to recover damages for an assault. The court held that the motion is well taken, and ought to be sustained.

William J. Burns National Detective Agency vs. John Swisher. Leave given to plead in 30 days.

A number of witnesses had been subpoenaed in the case of Robert Musselman vs. Andrew M. McMillan in the common pleas court today, but the parties got together and adjusted the case without trial. The suit was brought to prevent the defendant from using a right of way out of the east side of a 35-acre tract owned by Musselman in Union township.

The defendant, McMillan, filed a motion to dissolve the injunction which had been issued, and asked the court to grant him a decree establishing a right of way. The parties settled the case on the terms that the defendant shall have a right of way 16 1/2 feet wide off of the east side of plaintiff's land, and the agreement also covered the construction and maintenance of fences along the right of way.

Flory & Flory appeared for plaintiff, and Kibler & Kibler and L. C. Russell for the defendant.

In the case of Jacob L. Mason vs. Hazel Mabel Mason, the court granted plaintiff a decree of divorce upon the grounds stated in her petition.

Pike Bids Opened.
The county commissioners, Saturday afternoon, opened bids for $36,500 worth of Licking county pike improvement bonds, drawing 5 per cent interest, and whose life averages seven and one-half years. Following were the bids:

Otis & Co., Cleveland, O., premium of $75 and accrued interest for the entire issue.

Spitzer, Rorick & Co., Toledo, O., $115 premium on $22,000; $79 premium on $15,000, and $78.50 premium on another $15,000.

Ohio National Bank of Columbus, O., $6.25 premium on $27,000.

The commissioners took the bids under advisement and will render their decision at a later date.

Adopt Infant.
Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Bell of Uida, O., have adopted a 3-month-old infant, Margaret Tomlinson. The little one's name has been changed to Gladys Leone Bell.

Justice Scott's Court.
Two suits have been filed in Justice F. S. Scott's court by the Roman Catholic congregation, S. Ficta Vincent vs. Augustus Sissac. These suits are civil actions brought to recover money while defendant was acting as custodian of funds for the church, one being for $27 and the other a written bond or promise to pay $100 for church paraphernalia loaned to a church dignitary in another city.

Verdict for Plaintiff.
In the case of Adam Emswiler vs. J. W. Scott, et al., a suit upon a bond and note for $200, the jurors returned a verdict for plaintiff for the amount claimed, with interest.

Real Estate Transfers.
Jane Jones Baker to Alvah Kintz parcel of land in city, $32.50.

GRANVILLE

KING'S DAUGHTERS BAZAAR WAS LARGELY ATTENDED IN SPITE OF BAD WEATHER

Miss Harriet Cooper of Chicago, Addressed the Women's Missionary Organization Friday.

(Special To The Advocate.)

Granville, O., Dec. 5.—Yesterday's weather was a keen disappointment to those with public enterprises in charge, as it rained heavily and steadily all day. However, the farmers' assurance that the rain is badly needed, was some compensation for personal discomfort, and after all, people turned out about as well as usual. The King's Daughters scored another wonderful success in the Christmas bazaar and supper, held yesterday in the Municipal building during the afternoon and evening. The place was thronged with buyers, and the supper proved so popular that many were turned away for lack of room. The offerings commanded excellent prices, and a neat sum will be realized, the president, Miss Lillie Jones, preferring to make no statement until all bills are paid.

Miss Harriet Cooper of Chicago, general Home Mission Worker from coast to coast, was the only speaker yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the Woman's Missionary Organization in the Baptist church. Despite the rain there was a large attendance and the audience felt inspired, uplifted, and instructed by the message presented by this competent worker direct from the field. The work among the colored people of the south, with all it has accomplished and all that needs to be done, was reviewed, especially that of Sherman college, the Mather school, and the training school in Washington, D. C. The whole meeting was in the nature of an "extra," with its Christmas decorations, the special musical program under Miss Howland's direction, and the tea served by one of the circles. Indeed the excellence of the musical offerings brought out many expressions of appreciation for all the performers. "Holy Night" was exquisitely sung by Miss Elizabeth Porter with violin obligato by Miss Josephine Darrow, whose tone production is surpassingly good; piano accompaniment by Mrs. Howard Darrow. "Come Unto Me," from the Messiah, was rendered by Miss Alerit Chrysler with artistic finish. "The Birthday of a King," by Miss Howland in her pure, clear soprano, with refrain by a chorus composed of Misses Porter, Chrysler, Gladys Spencer, Mabel Jones, Gertrude Phillips, Lois Lockhart, had the true Christmas inspiration. Refreshments were passed by Misses Alma Brumback, Hazel Belin, Juliet Barker and Judith Nichols. The president, Mrs. D. C. Gilmore, presided at the regular session, the reports of the Home and Foreign secretaries showing that the organization has yet to raise about $40 in its Home apportionment, and about $36.00 on the Foreign. Several barrels of clothing have been sent, and one is ready to go, valued at $75.00.

The Irving Literary society of Denison gave an extra last evening, with about a hundred guests in attendance. The program was excellent and at its conclusion a social hour was enjoyed. Dainty refreshments were served. The chairman of the committee on arrangements was Forrest Ashbrook, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Ashbrook of Granville.

Instead of the address before the Cash Register Club of Dayton, which President Chamberlain was reported in the Advocate to have delivered last week, he gave a lecture before the Steele High school in the afternoon and addressed the Engineers club of Dayton in the evening. Following the lecture there was a dinner at the club house, given in honor of Dr. Chamberlain to which the Denison men in Dayton were bidden. The Engineers club is a splendid organization, and the club house is a fine old mansion, purchased and remodeled for its present use by Mr. E. A. Deeds of the Cash Register Co. and Mr. McKittrick, two public spirited Dayton citizens.

Mrs. C. L. Williams has returned home after a week's visit at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. George Walker in Clifton, a suburb of Cincinnati, O.

Rev. Bruce Kinney of Topeka, Kansas, a Denison alumnus, who has in touch with, alma mater, is stopping with his Phil Gam brothers for a few days.

OFFICERS ELECTED.
The Silent Circle of The King's Daughters and Sons, has elected officers for the ensuing year as follows:

Leader, Mrs. Louella Stone; first vice president, Mrs. Warren Wright; second vice president, Miss Bertie Jones; recording secretary, Mrs. Harry C. Gilson, corresponding secretary, Mrs. Franklin T. Crouch; treasurer, Mrs. Arthur N. Banton; flower chairman, Mrs. Fred P. Fuchs.

BOARD OF TRADE MEETING.
Owing to the stormy weather, the attendance at last night's citizens' meeting called by the Board of Trade was very small and because of the light attendance, President R. W. Smith decided to adjourn the meeting until a date to be announced later.

JACKSON DAY BANQUET.
At a meeting of the Licking County Democratic Club Friday night, a resolution was adopted directing the president, Prof. O. C. Larason, to proceed with arrangements for a Jackson Day banquet in Newark.

CALMA

LACE FRONT CORSETS

The new models have been accredited by New York's leading designers of fashions as absolute perfection in figure lines. Low bust, but slightly tapered at the waist, showing practically no prominence at the hips and close fitting extension with elastic insert at the back.

These are the true girlish lines of the teens which designers now consider perfection. CALMA LACE FRONT Corsets are made of the softest materials, have only the smallest amount of necessary boning and are not expected to force the figure. They are simply perfect to hold the figure and give it light, flexible and restful support.

CALMA FRONT LACE CORSETS are the first and emphatic choice of all young women who dance, ride, walk, play golf or tennis, or participate in any out door sports where suppleness and graceful activity takes a commanding position.

Ask to see them at the corset department, at

Sashes and Girdles Among Best of Gifts

NO ONE need remain long in doubt as to what to get for a maid or matron in this day of the vogue of girdles and sashes. A girdleless gown is hardly to be found and whether for the street, the home, or evening wear, ribbons are used to form the circlet that enfolds the waist or terminates the bodice. There are any number of styles in girdles and sashes to choose among made of every variety of weaves known to the loom and every color and combination of colors that has been thought out.

A girdle of wide plaid ribbon, finished with a sprightly bow of two loops and two ends, is shown in the picture. It makes a Christmas gift that will delight every woman who likes to keep abreast with the mode. The girdle portion is boned to spread the ribbon and hold it in place without pins. The bow is simply tied and may be untied and the length wrapped about the figure if preferred.

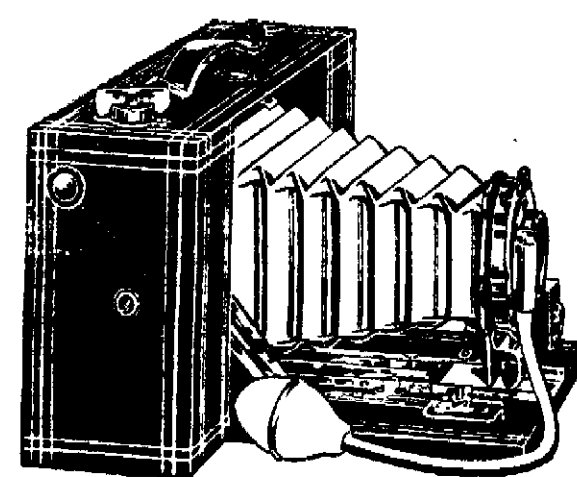

A sash of dotted satin ribbon, designed for a party gown, may be used as a model for making up any of the soft fancy ribbons, suited to dressy wear. It requires ribbon about four or five inches wide, of which three lengths are sewed together to form the girdle. This is boned at the sides and back to hold it in place and fastened in the back with hooks and eyes. Over the fastening a flat bow of three loops and one end is placed with the loops lying lengthwise on the figure.

Narrow ribbons are sewed together to form wide girdles and ribbons of moderate width are bordered with black velvet ribbon, from an inch to two inches wide. The flowered Dressing and rich, brightly colored brocades are very effectively bordered in this way. Sometimes narrow shaded or flowered ribbons are joined by means of narrow velvet ribbons, a half inch in width. The edges of the velvet ribbon overlap those of the satin ribbon and are machine stitched down. Girdles made in this way are fastened with hooks and eyes and the fastening concealed by flat bows of two loops without ends.

Primitive Aids to Sight.

Simple yet effective aids to sight were used long before any form of lens had been devised. Spectacles first became known about the beginning of the fourteenth century, and an inscription on the tomb of a nobleman of Florence, Salvino Armatas, who died in 1317, states that he was the inventor. The earliest form of an instrument to aid the sight was a shield for the eyes, a very small opening admitting the light. Emperor Nero was shortsighted and employed what contemporary writers called a "mirror," which in reality was an emerald reduced to a plane surface.

In his "Voyage to Hudson's Bay" Ellis tells how the Eskimos, in order to prevent snow blindness, covered their eyes with pieces of wool or ivory properly shaped and placed in them a narrow slit the length of the eye, through which they looked out. Not only did this device prevent the terrible snow blindness, but with its aid objects could be seen at a surprising distance, and the natives used them in the repair of telescopes even when there was no danger of snow blindness.—New York Tribune.

A Woman's Triumph.

The story deals with two sisters, Jennie and Effie Deans, daughters of an austere Scotchman. Effie, the frivolous sister becomes enamored of George Robertson who is one of a band of smugglers. As he is on his way to marry her he is captured. Effie is afraid to tell her sister of her plight, and goes to friends of Robertson. One of these a demure woman steals Effie's child and accuses her of having killed it, and she is arrested. Robertson who has been freed thinks of a freak law whereby he may secure the release of his wife, but her sister, Jennie, would have to tell a falsehood. This she refuses to do and Effie is to be executed. Jennie goes to the queen and pleads for the life of her sister, telling her the entire story. The sympathy of the queen wins the freedom of the younger sister, and the pardon of Robertson. "A Woman's Triumph" will be at the GEM theatre, Monday.
